The Semester is Coming to an End!

The Fall 2021 semester is wrapping up soon! Good luck to all students during finals week! As a reminder, classes start up again on Monday, January 10th. You can check out the Spring 2022 Academic Calendars on ECU's site for more important dates. The last day to add/drop courses for the 15-week term is Friday, January 14th. Wishing you a safe and fun winter break!
Graduate Teaching Assistant Orientation is offered each semester. The Graduate School provides an opportunity for graduate students who are already teaching assistants or know they will be in the future to learn more about teaching at ECU and how to perform as a teaching assistant overall. Held at times in-person and virtually, this nearly day-long workshop includes information on academic policies, academic integrity, how to provide feedback to students, and more! All graduate students are welcome whether they are currently a teaching assistant or not. Undergraduate students who know they will be a graduate teaching assistant at ECU within 1-2 semesters are also welcome! See the flyer for more information. Questions? Email Associate Dean Kathleen Cox at coxka@ecu.edu

Thesis-Dissertation Boot Camp is offered each semester in partnership with the Graduate School, Joyner Library, and the University Writing Center. They are held in person or virtually. Typically 3 days, the students learn information about preparing their thesis or dissertation document in brief discussions, but the specific purpose of boot camp is focused writing time. This workshop is designed to help students produce pages, whether in a chapter, as figures, or references or statistical analysis. This workshop is not designed to teach the student how to do a thesis or dissertation project or how to get started. Most students attend this workshop when they are writing their proposal or when they are finishing their document before their defense. Students are welcome at any stage when their goal is to produce a significant amount of pages. Questions? Email Associate Dean Kathleen Cox at coxka@ecu.edu

Graduate school is tough! There are times when you may need support to get you through the tougher times. The great news is that ECU has the support you need! Whether it’s health care, emotional support, or academic, there are resources for you to help. Spend some time reviewing these resources so when you do need them you will be aware of what’s available and will know how to contact them.

UNIVERSITY WRITING CENTER

The University Writing Center (UWC) is available to graduate students in several ways. First, students who need help with writing for their courses, thesis or dissertation can use the UWC consultant services to get one-on-one help with writing projects. There are virtual appointments available at this time due to COVID, but in-person appointments were available previously and are likely to return in the future. You can make appointments online and visit with the consultant online, as well.

Another great way the UWC supports graduate students is through employment. The UWC hires graduate students to serve as writing consultants to undergraduate and graduate students. If you are looking for employment, make sure to review the UWC website to see if they are hiring!

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICES

The Student Health Service is an on-campus health care clinic, but also provides support for student health insurance questions, immunizations, and other chronic care needs of students. The “Health Services Fee” included in the tuition of students taking on-campus courses covers the office visit fee at the Student Health Service. Other services such as lab, x-ray, or pharmacy are not included in this fee, but are offered at reduced rates and insurance is accepted. Students taking online courses only are not charged the Health Services Fee, therefore, if an online student visits the health center, there will be an “access” fee to pay along with the other charges such a lab or pharmacy. The FAQ page is helpful and answers most questions! You can also review the Student Health Insurance Plan website to learn more about who is eligible, how to enroll, and what it covers.
The Dean of Students (DOS) office is available for a variety of your needs. You can talk to a counselor there when you are having difficulty in courses, with roommates, or your overall academic experience. The DOS office is the official office for filing complaints. If you have a complaint or concern, you can talk to DOS about the best way to pursue resolving the issue. The DOS also facilitates the ECU CARES program. ECU CARES is available for anyone to report a person of concern. By sharing your concerns, you are helping to maintain the safety of our campus community.

Emergencies are not submitted through the ECU CARES form. The ECU CARES referrals and reviewed during business hours and the DOS office determines how the concern is handled. The process is anonymous; the person you submit a CARES report for does not get told that it was you. Once a report is made, the DOS office will reach out to the person and other appropriate offices to determine what needs to be done to resolve the situation or help the individual.

The DOS office is also able to help you with your daily needs - emergency funds for rent, access to food if you can’t afford to eat, and other support to ensure you are safe and secure. The DOS office is also your first point of contact if you think you need to withdraw completely from the university for any reason - academic, medical, or other extenuating circumstances.

The DOS office maintains a page of resources for many support services. This website https://deanofstudents.ecu.edu/resource/ has contacts for the ECU Police, the Office of Student Rights & Responsibilities, Student Health Services and more! Spend time on this website to familiarize yourself with the support systems and situations that may require help.

Some of the situations that the DOS office can discuss and assist with include:

- Requesting an approved Excused Absence from a course
- Helping with a Course or Term Withdrawal (before or after a deadline).

If after a deadline, they will explain possible options that may be available. The process for graduate students is different than undergraduate students, so make sure to review the website and note the information specific to graduate students. The Graduate Catalog holds the withdrawal policy, but the DOS office can discuss the decision with you and help you determine possible consequences of a course or term withdrawal. Dr. Kathleen Cox in the Graduate School is involved in requests for withdrawals after the posted deadlines and you are welcome to contact her for clarification about withdrawals, as well (coxka@ecu.edu).

Withdrawals often require students to return financial aid immediately, so please discuss this with your advisor as well as consult with the DOS, Office of Financial Aid, and the Graduate School if needed.
Below is a list of resources and services that are here for our campus community. Share these with your friends and peers, post about them on social media with the message that “it’s okay to ask for help,” or make that appointment that you have been thinking about. We cannot focus on the academic expectations and successes of our university if we overlook the wellbeing and emotional needs of our community members.

THE CENTER FOR COUNSELING AND STUDENT DEVELOPMENT (CCSD)

CCSD has expanded services this semester through My SSP (My Student Support Program) to increase counseling support and resources for students. This program offers chat, phone and/or video therapy services to enrolled students – including distance education students, students located outside North Carolina or even the U.S. (for practical training or Study Abroad).

Check out the My SSP flyer (on the following page) for more info! CCSD site here and My SSP here.

WELL-BEING AT ECU

Well-Being at ECU is a brand-new website to help students, faculty, and staff discover the elements of well-being, explore resources to thrive, and to identify pathways to live a flourishing life.

KOGNITO AT-RISK ONLINE MODULE

This is an interactive learning experience for students and faculty members that builds awareness, knowledge, and skills about mental health and suicide prevention, and prepares users to lead real-life conversations with students that build resilience, strengthen relationships, and connect them with support. Find out more at https://kognitocampus.com and register for a new account, using ecustudents as your enrollment key.

CONCERNED ABOUT A PIRATE?

Check out additional information from the Center for Counseling and Student Development on signs of distress, referral recommendations, and other frequently asked questions.

ECU Cares and the Office of the Dean of Students is always available for consultation and referrals regarding students of concern. Submit information through our online form at http://ecucares.ecu.edu or call 252-328-9297 for more information.

Additional options include BetterYou and Well-Being Coaching (both free options for ECU students).
