Still searching for on-campus employment?

There continue to be many opportunities for on-campus employment for graduate students. There are 3 types of employment available - graduate assistantships, federal work-study, and “self-help” or hourly pay positions. Each type has different requirements for employment as well as different time sheet & clocking in/clocking out mechanisms. For each position you inquire about, you will want to clarify the nature of the position so you are clear on how you will be paid, how you will keep track of time, and other characteristics which may vary from position to position. Review this website (Scroll to the bottom) to learn more about the types of positions. Graduate student employees are a valuable asset to ECU and we want to see more of you filling the positions you need! Most graduate students are eligible to work no more than 25 hours on campus; however there are some students restricted to 20 or 10 hours for various reasons. Speak with your potential employers about your specific situation and check with the Office of Student Employment or your Graduate Program Director to determine your eligibility to work 10, 20, or 25 hours. You must declare ALL your campus employers to each of them each time you sign a contract. Each employer must know where else you are working on campus.

Getting Permissions To Conduct Research at ECU
The University & Medical Center Institutional Review Board (IRB) oversees the research that involves human participants. All research projects should be reviewed by the IRB to determine what level of approval is needed: exempt, expedited or full. Using the ePIRATE system, graduate students can get approval for research projects - whether a dissertation, master’s thesis or another major project. Speak with your research mentors if you have questions and consult with the UMCIRB ePirate Page to get more information on starting an ePIRATE account and submitting your future research projects for permissions.

Research Diversity at ECU!
You can explore the diverse research programs that occur at ECU each and every day! The Division of Research, Economic Development, and Engagement (REDE) supports research across campus in a variety of ways. Their main website https://info.ecu.edu/research/ will lead you to more information including the research clusters, funding opportunities, research compliance regulations, and other helpful information for graduate students who are conducting research during their program. The ECU Research Dashboard is a helpful site to start your quest to learn more about this important Division and the functions it supports at ECU.

Office for Faculty Excellent Available To Graduate Students
The Office for Faculty Excellence (OFE) is a resource on campus that provides a variety of supports to faculty and graduate students in many of their roles. They provide support in professional development, teaching, research, and enable graduate students to find communities of support within diverse interest groups. Their services include a wide variety of workshops available each semester that are open to graduate students and help to enhance learning, skill building and resume/CV development. Make sure to review their Current Term and Future Term offerings so you can schedule time to take advantage of this great resource!

Also, see page 6 of this newsletter for more information on the National Center for Faculty & Development & Diversity! You are eligible for a free membership as a graduate student! The webinars listed on page 6 will all be hosted by the Office for Faculty Excellence! Watch them with other graduate students and faculty across campus to make friends, get support and build your network. All webinar sessions are held in the Office for Faculty Excellence, Joyner Library, Room 1008. Watch at home or join us in the OFE! If you are going to join us for the webinars in Room 1008, please pre-register! To register: https://ofe.ecu.edu/

Wanted: Grand Champion! ECU’s Three-Minute Thesis Competition is coming on November 6th! Three-Minute Thesis, or ‘3MT’ as it is known, is a competition where graduate students present their research in 3 minutes or less. This year’s competition is taking place on Wednesday, November 6th, at 2:00 PM in Main Campus Student Center Ballroom A.

Campus and Community Leaders served as judges for the event & there are winners including a department winner! The 3MT website is filled with helpful information including how to submit your abstract.

3MT is an international organization - and the Grand Champion at ECU will get to travel to the regional competition in Birmingham, Alabama in March 2020. Workshops will be available to help you improve your presentations! Talk to your research mentors & graduate program directors today to get involved! ALL grad students are welcome to present and attend as the audience!!
Free Graduate Student Membership!

We are pleased to announce that ECU has joined the National Center for Faculty Development & Diversity (NCFDD) as an Institutional Member! Our membership is sponsored by the Office of the Provost and Senior Vice Chancellor, in partnership with the Office for Equity and Diversity (OED) and the Office for Faculty Excellence (OFE).

The NCFDD is an independent faculty development center dedicated to supporting academics in making successful transitions throughout their careers. With our Institutional Membership, all faculty, postdocs, and graduate students at ECU will have access to the following member resources at no additional cost:

- Weekly Monday Motivator
- Core Curriculum Webinars*
- Guest Expert Webinars*
- Multi-Week Courses
- Dissertation Success Curriculum for graduate students*
- Private Discussion Forums
- Accountability buddy matches
- 14-Day Writing Challenges*

*Additional programming and support for these resources will be provided through the Office for Faculty Excellence. Stay tuned!

To activate your free Institutional Membership, complete the following steps:

1) Go to http://www.FacultyDiversity.org/Join
2) Choose your institution from the drop-down menu (if you don’t see a “Select Your Institution” menu, click on “Become a Member” and then select East Carolina University.
3) Select “Activate my Membership”
4) Complete the registration form using your institutional email address (i.e. @students.ecu.edu or @ecu.edu)
5) Go to your institution email to find a confirmation email. Click “Activate Account” in the confirmation email.

If you have any questions about the membership, please contact Eboni Baugh, Office for Faculty Excellence 2019-2020 Faculty Fellow, at baughe@ecu.edu or 252-328-5429. If you have any technical questions, please email NCFDD at Membership@FacultyDiversity.org.

Understanding Culture Shock
When first in a new country, students may experience culture shock. Understanding culture shock and being aware of other students who have felt this way is helpful to students new to the United States. The Office of Global Affairs and the Counseling Center are providing this workshop to help new international students to understand more about culture shock so that the student has the abilities and resources to maximize their success! ALL ARE WELCOME!
