- Requesting to approve 9 credits more than 10 years old toward graduation
 - Student enrolled in fall 2001
 - Student defended dissertation March 30, 2012 and his committee recommended he rewrite the dissertation by July
 - Student was not able to submit his dissertation fall semester 2012 but was able to submit to the Graduate School before census date of spring semester 2013
 - Student enrolled in one-hour dissertation course to be able to remain in the country
 - The Department of Physics is in support of this recommendation and it is their opinion the student has stayed current regarding course content
 - Department does not anticipate bringing forward similar requests
 - Approved
5. Thesis and Dissertation Graduate Catalog draft
- a. Thesis and Dissertation Faculty Manual Proposed Revision
- Added: “the Dean approves thesis and dissertations”
 - Peer institutions use language such as “approve” or “recommends for thesis/dissertation approval by the Dean of the Graduate School
 - Discussion
 - Concerns regarding thesis/dissertation content disapproval by the Dean of the Graduate School
 - Questions regarding content should be directed toward thesis/desertion committee
 - The role of the Dean of the Graduate School includes overseeing the quality of programs and representative works from graduate matters at ECU
 - The thesis/dissertation committee should be consulted as part of the process when substantive concerns on the quality of the thesis arise
 - There is no specific language stating the thesis/dissertation committee should reconvene in such circumstances (the process articulated in the Faculty Manual is open-ended)
 - Procedure needed to return questionable thesis/dissertations back to student’s committee for review
 - Recommendation to allow the dean to recommend external members to thesis/dissertation committees for quality control purposes
 - Not favored by Master’s programs
 - Recommendation to change language from “approve” to “recommend” since the Board of Trustees has final approval

- Noted that graduation is “recommended” to Board of Governors, but the question here is language for approval of theses and dissertations, which the Board of Governors does not specifically approve
- Motion approved to return draft to the GCEC for further refinement and an outline of detailed procedures
